FRESH EGGS IN WINTER.

The poultryman who can supply fresh eggs in winter, when prices are high, has a tremendous advantage over the one who through ignorance or neglect has to wait until summer, when the supply is large and the price low.

Not everyone can do this, and no one can do it unless he takes proper care of his fowls and gives them food containing the essential egg-producing ingredients which, when running at large, the hens can supply themselves to a large extent in summer. There is no material better fitted for this purpose than "Page's Perfected Poultry Food."

George F. Tanner of Springfield, Vt., has used and sold this food for many years, and he speaks from experience when he says, in a recent letter: "For several years I have sold and used 'Page's Perfected Poultry Food,' and do not hesitate to say that I think it is one of the best foods on the market to make hens lay. Shall be pleased to handle it for you again this season."

If you want to know more about this food and the best ways of using it, write to C. S. Page, Hyde Park, Vt., for his booklet, "Profitable Poultry." It will be sent free, postpaid, to anyone mentioning this paper.

USUALLY ONE DOSE RELIEVES INDIGESTION

Heartburn, Gas, Dyspepsia and Head-ache Will Vanish and Your Stomach Will Feel Fine After Taking a Little Diaperin.

If your meals don't sit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating, and you believe it is the food which fills you, if what fills you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach-irritants which sour your entire meal—interfere with digestion and causes so many sufferers of dyspepsia, sick headache, biliousness, constipation, griping, etc. Your case is no different—you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diaperin will cost fifty cents at any pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that fermentation and sour stomach is causing the misery of indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble catarrh of the stomach, nervousness or gastritis, or by some other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diaperin will regulate any out-of-order stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort, all of any kind of food you eat.

The Ferguson Plan.

It would be one thing for Ferguson to herd up a lot of hysterical women and vote a naturally license keep dry. Such a thing, such an undignified method of compassing the overthrow of local option in this state, would surely be resented. If it had the effect intended by its promoters, it would simply mean a repetition of the campaign of 1902. Vermont is doing very well indeed now in the direction of temperance, and will improve from year to year, as sentiment improves. The legislature will act wisely to let things settle down along this scheme of introducing the woman vote in order to carry towns dry has no merit from a well considered temperance standpoint.—Randolph Herald.

The late Gen. William R. Shafter developed during his residence in California a dislike for the Chinese.

Some time ago, at a dinner in San Francisco, Gen. Shafter pointed to a flyer in a glass and said:

"Watch a man when a fly gets in his glass of beer and you can tell his nationality."

"An American will pay, laugh and order a fresh glass."

"A Spaniard will pay, but quietly walk off without drinking the beer."

"A Frenchman will pay and go, but make a tremendous fuss."

"An Englishman will throw away the beer and demand a fresh glass for nothing."

"A German will carefully remove the fly with his finger and then drink the beer."

"A Russian will toss off fly, beer and all."

"A Chinaman will first rescue the fly and eat it and then drink the beer to the last drop."—Los Angeles Herald.

Alyn MacIntyre overheard this conversation, which he says is the funniest that man ever spoke.

"Where you been, Murray?"

"To a health resort. Finest place I ever struck. It was simply great."

"Then why did you come away?"

"Oh, I got sick and had to come home."

"Are you going back?"

"You bet. Just as soon as I get well enough."—Chicago News.

Thousand-Dollar Bills.

[According to statistics sent out from Washington, $1,000 bills are not popular here.]

Poor, lonely thousand-dollar bill, Come unto me, I pray!

Though spurned by other hands, I will be kind to you to-day.

Though other eyes may glare at you And other lips may frown, My friendship is sincere and true I will not turn you down.

Though we have never met, poor bill Of thousand-dollar face, With love you'd make my pulses thrill, And I'd admire your grace.

I know that I should welcome you. Your friend I'd gladly be. You need not at my threshold sue; Some straightway unto me.

I'll care for you by night and day, I'll keep you from my own; For sure that other men might say I gladly will atone.

With some unpopular, perhaps 'Tis true that you may be; But never mind those other chaps—You're popular with me.

If you are searching for a friend, No farther need you go, My home will be your journey's end, A place for you I know.

Right gladly will I take you in; My roof, your roof shall be. Unpopular you may have been—But now come unto me.

St. Johnsbury Groom Falls Captive to Lynn Bookkeeper.

Lynn, Mass., Jan. 23.—Miss Ethel E. Haskell, daughter of Mrs. Nellie F. Haskell of 6 Michigan avenue in this city, was married Saturday afternoon to Harvey A. Carrick of St. Johnsbury, Vt., by Rev. Frederick Perkins, pastor of the First Universalist church, in his home, 211 Ocean street. The bride was attended by Miss Josephine Knollin and the groom by Frank Wood of Revere. They will live in Lynn.

R. S. Bauer and Mr. Carrick worked for a number of years in the same business. Their acquaintance started last spring when they met in Mr. Bauer's store, where the firms adjusted some differences.

George Robinson of Shaftsbury recently found a fine pair of deer horns in the woods near his home. The deer had been shot through the lower jaw and could neither eat nor drink and died from starvation. It undoubtedly was shot in deer season, as the body had been nearly all eaten by dogs.

The machinery has all been installed in the Lamotte Turning works of Morrisville and everything is working smoothly. The firm is under contract to turn out 300,000 pipe stems before the first of February, and it looks as though they would have to keep busy.

This concern employs several men and is a substantial addition to the business of the town. P. A. Smith of Gorham, at the expiration of his pastoral term, there in the spring, will move to Morrisville and devote his entire time to the affairs of the company.

About the State

The 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George Merrill of St. Johnsbury was celebrated January 1. Mr. Merrill is 84 years old and his wife is 81.

Among the people present at the annual roll-call of the Congregational church at Corinth was Mrs. Sarah Wilson, who has been a member of the church for over 90 years. She is now 98 years and eight months old.

A fine fawn was recently caught in the wire fence near the Edgar Perkins farm at Shaftsbury in such a way that it was impossible for it to get away.

The deer was frozen to death and nearly covered up by snow when first seen by boys who were trapping.

Lake Champlain is apparently frozen over from shore to shore. If it remains frozen, this will make the earliest time of closing for many years, the average date being January 31. The earliest date of closing was in January 7, 1868. Only 18 out of 95 times has the lake closed as early as this year.

The broad lake did not close at all in the years 1828, 1842 and 1850, and during the winter of the latter year an excursion was given on one of the lake steamers to Whitehall, which goes to show the mildness of the winter, as the boats had not even been placed in winter quarters at that time of the year.

Coasting accidents, resulting more or less seriously, are becoming quite frequent. Edward, the young son of Mr. J. C. F. Stevens of North Springfield, is in a critical condition as the result of losing control of his sled and running into a stone wall. He struck with such force that a gash nearly six inches long was cut in his head. Mrs. Ernest Carpenter, while coasting in Wilmington with several others, just slid down the hill and was rising from the sled when another came down, striking her and knocking her to the ground. Her back struck the sled, injuring her spine very badly.

CARS WERE WRECKED.

In Rear-end Collision at Brattleboro Yesterday Afternoon.

Brattleboro, Jan. 23.—Yesterday afternoon three cars and the buggy of a northbound Boston and Maine freight train were completely demolished in a rear-end collision about two miles south of the Brattleboro station.

The Boston and Maine train had stopped to fix a drawbar. Flaggmen were sent back and the repairs were made in a few minutes. Then the flaggmen were called in, but before the Boston and Maine train could get under headway a fast approaching Central Vermont train crashed into the Boston and Maine train, completely smashing the buggy and three rear cars.

Fireman Nicholson of New London jumped when the crash came and was severely injured about the face. The engineer in charge did not jump and his engine was not damaged badly. One of the freight cars was thrown over the head of conductor O'Brien of the Boston and Maine, who was standing on the ground at the time the accident occurred.

The 23rd northbound train was sent around through Keene to Bellows Falls, and the wreckage was cleared from the track for the southbound train at 4:20, which was 50 minutes late.

SUICIDE BY PARIS GREEN.

Allan Anger of Bridport Took It Saturday Night.

Middlebury, Jan. 23.—Allan Anger, aged 45 years, committed suicide Saturday night by taking Paris green at his home on the Bridport road. He is thought to have been mentally unbalanced, as he had been drinking heavily for the past three weeks. He tried to end his life 10 days ago by taking carbolic acid, but his act was discovered in time to save his life.

Saturday night he complained of being ill after taking the poison and a physician was called, but too late to save his life. It was not known until after he died that he had taken Paris green.

He had lived in Bridport nearly all his life, being employed as a laborer. He lived with his aunt, Mrs. Sarah Barrows, by whom he is survived.

He had lived in Bridport nearly all his life, being employed as a laborer. He lived with his aunt, Mrs. Sarah Barrows, by whom he is survived.

which he was walking to the Church of the Sacred Heart of Mary to pay last respects to Magloire Ducharme, a life long friend who died Friday, Joseph Bellney, 69 years old, dropped dead a few minutes later in the Rutland Railroad company's power house, where he had gone to rest. Mr. Bellney, who at the Howe Scale company's plant for years had worked side by side with the late Mr. Ducharme, was present with the mourners at the house Friday evening, and Saturday, though not well, was insistent upon attending the funeral.

Joseph Bellney was born in Rutland July 14, 1841. From an early age up to the time of his enlistment in Company B of the 9th Vermont volunteers on June 7, 1862, he worked as a wheelwright in Shrewsbury. In the Civil war he saw service in many engagements including the battle of Richmond.

For some time he was confined in Libby prison, and his friends were fond of relating the following which illustrated how his fondness for tobacco unintentionally procured his release in advance of some of his comrades. Mr. Bellney wore a uniform that was in a fair state of preservation and, noticing this, one of his fellow prisoners, who was supplied with tobacco, offered to exchange the tobacco for it. The deal was quickly consummated and Mr. Bellney donned the tattered uniform. When the prisoners were released, those whose appearance was most needy received their liberty first.

Mr. Bellney was honorably discharged from the service June 30, 1865.

Besides his wife, Mr. Bellney is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lewis Avery of Rutland and Mrs. Charles Allen of Barre, a sister, Julia Bellney of the city, and a brother, Orin Bellney, of Shrewsbury.
